Data contained in this annual report represents children reported by the South Carolina Department of Social Services, who remain in foster care at least four consecutive months and are reviewed by the South Carolina Foster Care Review Board.

RECOMMENDATION

The South Carolina Foster Care Review Board is supported by a State Board of Directors appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The State Board meets quarterly and is responsible for reviewing and coordinating the activities of local review boards. It also makes recommendations in an annual report to the Governor and the General Assembly.

INDEPENDENT REVIEW FOR FAMILY PRESERVATION CASES

State Board Recommendation

Since 1974, the Foster Care Review Board (FCRB) has provided an external, third-party review system for all children residing in foster care in South Carolina. This independent system of accountability has successfully utilized citizen volunteers to promote safe, permanent homes for children in foster care in a timely manner and has increased public awareness regarding issues faced by children and families involved with the child-welfare system.

Given the success of the FCRB's monitoring of the foster care system and its advocacy for permanence for all children, the State Board of Directors recommends external oversight of Family Preservation cases. This oversight might include among other options an independent review system, to ensure immediate and enduring safety for all children within DSS oversight.

SUMMARY OF REVIEWS

The Review Board analyzes ongoing, comparative data of children in foster care in order to gain a better understanding of the trends impacting the system, as well as future implications related to permanency for each child reviewed.

During calendar year 2016, 44 local review boards held 427 local review board meetings, completing 6,892 case reviews for 4,175 children in foster care. In 2016, there was a 3 percent increase in the number of reviews and the number of children reviewed.

Data regarding entry into foster care for 3,751 children was received from the South Carolina Department of Social Services (DSS) and entered in the Review Board data-management system during calendar year 2016. Local review boards held reviews for 1,926 of these children, while 1,825 children either left foster care prior to a case review, or had not been reviewed as of December 31, 2016. Thirty-three percent, or 1,254 of all children entering foster care in 2016 had at least one previous out-of-home placement.

Areas of Concern

12,551

The monthly review process allows local review boards to identify systemic concerns that are barriers to permanence for children in foster care. These system deficiencies, or areas of concern, are items that are not in compliance with federal law, state law or DSS agency policy.

In 2016, local review boards identified 12,551 areas of concern, a 26 percent increase from 2015. DSS policy violations, including case plan barriers, accounted for 59 percent of all areas of concern. The most frequently identified policy area of concern was interested parties not invited (1,072). Legal barriers, hearings not held, and hearings not held timely accounted for 36 percent of all areas of concern. No court order at the time of the review was the most frequently noted legal concern in 2016 (2,487), followed by no timely foster care review (473). Delays in adoption services accounted for 5 percent of all areas of concern.

SUMMARY OF REVIEWS

Case Decisions and Recommendations

Local review boards carefully consider input from interested parties prior to issuing a recommendation for each child's case. Interested parties are invited by DSS to attend Foster Care Review Board hearings. Board members are required by statute to consider the most appropriate permanency recommendation possible for each child. Recommendations are sent to the Family Court, DSS, and Guardians ad Litem.

If a required interested party is not invited or if additional information is needed for the board members to make a permanency recommendation, no recommendation is made and the review is continued. Reviews that are continued or not held are rescheduled, usually within three months of the original review date.

The graph below illustrates the percentage and type for each recommendation issued by local review boards at the most recent child specific review in 2016.

Review Board Recommendations

ENTERING FOSTER CARE

The number of children who entered foster care between January and December 2016 is 3,751. This is slightly higher than in 2015.

Thirty-seven percent of children entering foster care in 2016 entered due to physical neglect, while 32 percent entered care due to abuse. The remaining children entered foster care due to drug exposure/testing positive for drugs (22 percent), reason not reported (7 percent), and abandonment or voluntary placement (2 percent).

Previous Out-of-Home Placements

Of the 3,751 children reported to have entered foster care in 2016, 33 percent (1,254) had at least one reported previous out-of-home placement. Of the 1,254, 48 percent entering foster care came from the home of a parent, 38 percent from the home of a relative, and 3 percent from an adoptive home.

The Review Board reports on all out-of-home placements for children who enter foster care because moving from home to home, or coming in and out of foster care, creates additional trauma for a child. The chart below displays prior placement data for the most recent entry to foster care by calendar year.

Placement prior to most recent entry

LEAVING FOSTER CARE

3,552

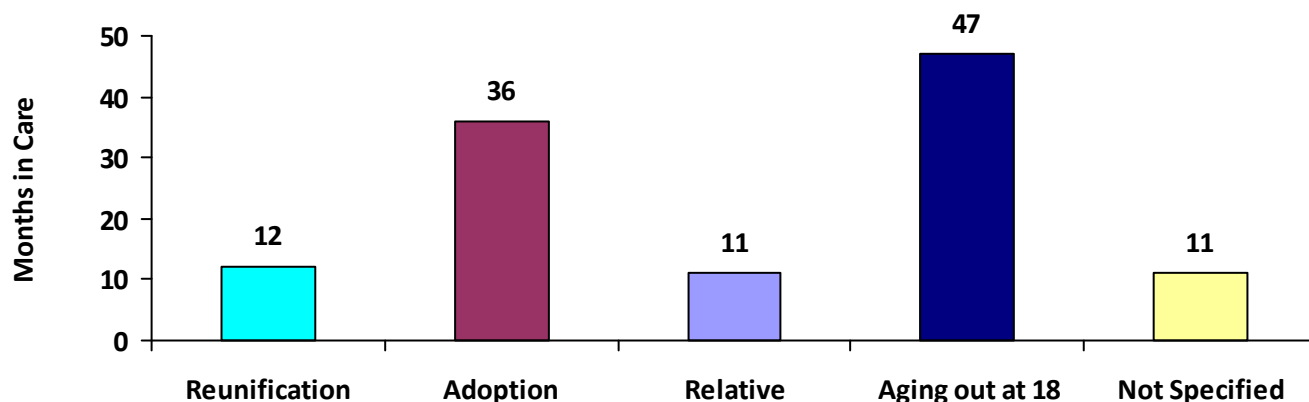

DSS reported that 3,552 children left the foster care system in 2016. Of these 3,552 children, local review boards reviewed 1,827 of these prior to their leaving foster care. The other 1,725 children left the custody of DSS prior to review boards conducting a review.

Returning a child to a parent or finalizing an adoption are the most permanent options for children who leave foster care. In 2016, 65 percent of children reviewed were returned to a parent or had a finalized adoption. The following table summarizes data for all children leaving foster care in 2016.

INDICATOR	ALL CHILDREN	CHILDREN REVIEWED	CHILDREN NOT REVIEWED
CHILDREN LEAVING FOSTER CARE	3,552	1,827	1,725

The graph below compares the average number of months a child remains in foster care based on the reason the child left foster care in 2016.

Number of Months in Care by Reason Left Care

ADOPTIONS

Of all children who left foster care in 2016, 12 percent (413) had finalized adoptions; 24 percent (99) of these adoptions were completed within the federal standard of 24 months. That is significantly lower than 2015 and the lowest percentage since 2011. The average length of time a child spends in foster care before a finalized adoption is 36 months.

The average age at adoption was 6.7 years. In 2016, adoptions were finalized for 50 children age 13 and older. Teen adoptions accounted for 12 percent of all finalized adoptions. Positive permanency for older youth should always be a top priority for the child-welfare system in South Carolina.

REMAINING IN CARE

DSS reported to the FCRB that there were 4,124 children in foster care as of December 31, 2016. Of these, 36 percent (1,468) have been in the foster-care system for their most recent foster care entry for 17 continuous months or longer.

Of these children remaining in care 17 months or longer during the reporting period, 54 percent (792) were legally free for adoption. The average length of time in care for these children is 3.9 years, or 47 months. The length of time in foster care ranges from 17 months to 18 years; and 142 children (18 percent) have spent five or more years in foster care.

The graph below illustrates the age break-down for children in foster care for 17 months or longer.

HEART GALLERY

A photograph captures a moment in time. For children in foster care who are waiting for adoption, a photograph can be the starting point to finding their forever family. A national network of Heart Galleries has embraced this singular mission of using the power of photography to build families for children lingering in foster care.

The South Carolina Heart Gallery (Heart Gallery) recruits local photographers who generously donate their time and talent to capture the spirit and personality through portraits of waiting children for online display and public exhibit space offered by faith communities, libraries, restaurants and other businesses.

The Heart Gallery continues to photograph increasing numbers of waiting children and responds to families who express interest in adopting. As part of a network of state organizations partnering with DSS, the Heart Gallery provides additional intensive recruitment opportunities for individual children, as well as direct services for families, helping increase the number of adoptive families for children seeking forever homes. Heart Gallery staff members assist families by guiding them through the application phase, advocating and supporting them through their journey in becoming a forever home for a child in need, and then completing adoptive home studies.

OUTCOMES BY COUNTY

The following table compares 2016 Review Board data in South Carolina's 46 counties for children reviewed, children entering/re-entering care, children leaving care, and permanency. FCRB considers permanency as a child being returned to a parent or having a finalized adoption. For children who left care but did not achieve permanency, 34 percent (1,200) went to the custody of a relative and 9 percent (340) turned 18, or the reason they left care was not provided.

For children entering and leaving care, these numbers reflect all children reported to the FCRB by DSS. They include children who were reviewed and children that DSS reported leaving care prior to a review being held.

BARRIERS BY COUNTY

The FCRB is statutorily mandated to report on deficiencies in the child-welfare system. One tool for measuring deficiencies is areas of concern. These are defined as non-compliance with federal and state law and/or DSS policy and are identified during the review of a child's case.

The following table summarizes data collected during reviews held in calendar year 2016. The data compares areas of concern in individual counties. All percentages are rounded to the nearest whole number.

AWARDS

The State Board of Directors selects a Review Board and Review Board Member of the Year. Community partners, staff, and Review Board members nominate boards and individual members. The Professional Development and Awards Committee of the State Board reviews all nominations and makes recommendations to the State Board.

Local Review Board 9E: Berkeley County, was selected as the 2016 Review Board of the Year. Review Board 9E Members include Kathleen Bounds, Gene Coon, David Fitzpatrick, Walter Mitchell, and Randy Shepard. This board, which has been working together since 2008, is passionate about improving the lives of children in foster care in Berkeley County, while also supporting the DSS staff who serve the children. In 2016, board members contacted a local school district to ensure that a student in need of specific supplies received the proper resources. Additionally, one board member arranged for children in foster care in the county to receive free books from a local store. The board supports the Heart Gallery and has volunteered at and provided snacks for photo shoots. Additionally, the board hosts an annual pizza luncheon to thank the DSS staff for the role they play in supporting the children and youth of South Carolina. As the nomination letter indicated, "These individuals are not only dedicated to doing what's in the best interest for children in the foster care system, but they are also dedicated to each other and are always willing to give a helping hand to one another if needed. I have much respect for these individuals and their commitment and dedication to FCRB, Heart Gallery and the youth of South Carolina."

AWARDS

John Seignious of Review Board 9A: Charleston County, is the 2016 Review Board Member of the Year. Since his appointment on FCRB 9A in September 2012, John has worked tirelessly to become a strong and capable board member. John faithfully attends training opportunities as well as the reviews of Review Board 9A. He has served his board as chairperson and when needed he willingly serves as a substitute for other boards. In 2016, he attended all seven of Review Board 9A's review days as well as subbed 18 other times for other Charleston review boards. The nomination letter for John highlighted the role he has played as a mentor to new board members, saying, "As a new Foster Care Review Board member I was afraid I would say something wrong or not have the heart to make these life-changing recommendations... [John] has taught me a lot and made me comfortable with my part as a team member. He is a knowledgeable, intelligent and kind man. He loves what he does and it shows."

VOLUNTEER CONTRIBUTIONS

11,847 Volunteer Hours

In 2016, nearly 200 volunteers contributed 11,847 hours to serve the state of South Carolina. The hours spent reviewing cases and providing additional services to board members' individual communities is highly appreciated by the FCRB Staff and State Board of Directors.

FCRB volunteers are objective, independent reviewers of cases of children in foster care. Local review boards held 427 meetings and spent 8,643 hours reviewing cases for 4,175 children in foster care. The review boards issued Advisory Recommendations to DSS and the Family Court for permanent case plans for each child reviewed and identified areas of non-compliance with DSS policy or statute(s) in each case. Review board members also generously donated an additional 3,204 hours supporting and strengthening services to expedite safe, permanent families for children. Local review boards contributed the following in 2016:

- 11 review boards completed service projects to support programs and events for children in foster care and those who serve them.
- 15 review boards sponsored Heart Gallery exhibits, or donated refreshments and assisted at photo shoots where children who are legally free for adoption had professional photographs taken for adoptive recruitment.
- 11 review boards participated in quarterly meetings with child-welfare partners to discuss trends and issues impacting children in foster care.
- 8 review boards provided quarterly reports or presented the Annual Report to legislators on local review board activities and trends impacting children in foster care.
