MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Lindsey Taylor

It is my pleasure to present the FY2023 Annual Report from the South Carolina Division of Foster Care review (FCRD).

This fiscal year was yet another year of growth and change for the FCRD and, in addition to this growth, the Division and Foster Care Review Boards continued to conduct the statutorily mandated case reviews for children in foster care. As the data featured later in this report shows, the Foster Care Review Boards reviewed a total of 4108 individual children in foster care and issued 5319 recommendations regarding permanency for those children as the result of these reviews.

In addition to the case reviews, the FCRD focused on several program improvement initiatives throughout the year including: stabilizing staffing numbers through making updates to the hiring process and being intentional about the candidates selected; updating the tool used by FCRD and the local boards to assess cases from a systemic level to better identify the causes of permanency delays for children in foster care; and the development of a new, comprehensive case management system that will allow for better data reporting and moving to electronic record-keeping.

Turnover was a significant concern in FY22 and the beginning half of FY23 but thanks to ongoing agency efforts regarding pay equity and other retention strategies the FCRD was able to hire multiple highly qualified employees to fill vacancies, provide equity increases for a significant portion of staff who had not received pay increases outside of general increases for state employees in several years, and implement a telework plan that greatly contributed to staff morale and greater job satisfaction by providing flexibility not previously had. Overall, we made great strides in this area and I'm looking forward to seeing even more improvements moving forward!

We have continued to make progress addressing the recommendations made by the efficiency study conducted by the Office of Inspector General in FY22 and updates to those specific items can be found in the "Overview" section of this report. However, one area where we made significant progress was in replacing our aging database. We worked with a contracted vendor to develop a case management system that will greatly improve the quality and quantity of data that can be maintained in an electronic format and will also integrate with the South Carolina Department of Social Services' system to allow for more updated records and greatly improved communication along with streamlined, more efficient processes for both our staff and theirs.

In addition to the advancements made by FCRD in relation to providing the systems level oversight required by statute, the South Carolina Heart Gallery made significant headway as well. The photo shoots that were re-established in FY22 were continued throughout FY23 which allowed for more than 70 additional children to be photographed and featured on our website. The SCHG was also able to establish a relationship with a nonprofit organization, Grant Me Hope, to complete videos of these children designed to showcase their personalities which we are very hopeful will have a significant impact on our ability to recruit prospective foster homes.

I am very proud of the growth that FCRD and the SCHG experienced this year and I'm confident that, through the hard work and dedication of our staff, we will be able to continue growing the impact that we're able to have on positive outcomes for children and families in South Carolina. I can't wait to report to you next year about the accomplishments coming up next!

Respectfully submitted,

LINDSEY TAYLOR

Director, Foster Care Review Division, SC Department of Children's Advocacy

FY 2023 OVERVIEW

The Division for Review of the Foster Care of Children (herein called Foster Care Review Division or FCRD) is led by Director Lindsey Taylor and includes state office staff who support the work of the South Carolina Foster Care Review Board (FCRB). The FCRB was created in 1974 to provide external accountability for the foster care system, review the cases of children in foster care, and advocate for permanency. Board members are nominated by their legislative delegations and appointed by the governor. South Carolina was the first state to enact a system of citizen review responsible for improving permanency outcomes for children in foster care. The FCRB consists of a state board and 43 local review boards. The local review boards review cases of children after they have been in foster care for four months and then every six months thereafter, so long as the child remains in the custody of the Department of Social Services (DSS).

REVIEWS OF CHILDREN IN FOSTER CARE

During state fiscal year 2022-2023 (FY2023), FCRB reviewed the cases of 4108 children, many of whom received more than one case review during the year. The division and board members embraced the enhanced accessibility provided by virtual reviews via WebEx. This allowed invited participants greater opportunities to participate as they could attend from anywhere.

ANNUAL AND QUARTERLY REPORTING

FCRD monitors and reports quarterly and annually its progress in achieving permanent plans for children in foster care. However, during this fiscal year, FCRD's inefficient and outdated system, CASPER, adversely affected its ability to submit timely reports. While it published its annual report, FCRD struggled to timely submit quarterly reports, issuing only three of four to DSS. The system was also unable to provide data and reports that could improve advocacy and permanency for children including specific data regarding overdue hearings. FCRD anticipates these issues will be resolved with the launch of a new case management system in FY24.

TRAINING AND TEAM BUILDING

The flexibility of virtual meetings allowed FCRD to host four regional trainings and one statewide board member training regarding child welfare practice, available services, and collaboration opportunities with a variety of partners. Trainings were designed to ensure that board members have relevant and updated information concerning our state's foster care system. The statewide training was the division's annual professional development day and included more than 100 participants. In addition to trainings, FCRD held various events to build morale and foster a positive work environment. By the end of FY23, FCRD reduced its staff vacancies from eight to two. During Employee Appreciation Week, FCRD coordinated with the Bureau of Protective Services and the Attorney General's Victim Services Division to have food trucks at the State House complex for state employees, encouraging them to enjoy lunch together on the State House grounds. Also during FY23, FCRD's Heather Valentine was awarded the DCA's Team Spirit Award, one of four awards presented to employees based on nominations by their co-workers.

CONTINUOUS QUALITY IMPROVEMENT

As reported in the 2022 Annual Report, Director Amanda Whittle asked the Office of Inspector General to conduct an efficiency study of the FCRD and FCRB to assist with improving processes, workflows, workloads, and outcomes. Foundational work to address these concerns began in FY22 and continued in FY23. Key recommendations followed by its progress included:

Replacing the outdated and unsupported CASPER database system

Funding to replace CASPER, a 17-year-old database, with an updated and flexible case management system, was approved in the FY23 budget. Working with a state-approved vendor, the new system, CAMS (Child Advocacy Management System), was designed and built during FY23 with a launch date set for the first half of FY24. The new case management system will improve the division's ability to track, analyze, and use data to advocate for children. It will also heighten employee morale and efficiency.

Move to a paperless process

Once up and running, CAMS will allow FCRD to begin the move toward paperless record keeping.

Create a system of accountability for areas of concern

FCRD began making updates to existing areas of concern that more specifically identify and target barriers to permanency for children in foster care. Once completed, the causes of these barriers will be provided to DSS and other responsible partners to address and/or eliminate.

Improving communication through updating policies with executive director review and approval

FCRD continued to review division policies and procedures. It expects to complete its assessment by the end of Q1 of FY24, coinciding with the implementation of CAMS.

Review and update inconsistent statutes between FCRD and DCA, and among DSS, FCRD, and GAL

Statutory changes remain a long-range goal on both fronts, and efforts begun in FY23 to effect these changes will continue into FY24. Progress included the diligent work of division leadership to clearly articulate and train both FCRB members and FCRD and DSS staff on the existing statutory requirements for reviews to ensure compliance.

Improve communication among DCA, FCRD, GAL, DSS, the judiciary, and other partners

The FCRD engaged in increased and improved communication and collaboration with several key partners, most notably with DSS:

- Joint collaborative trainings with DSS and GAL
- Dissemination of a survey completed by both board members and DSS staff designed to assess the current state of FCRB and DSS relationships and perceptions
- Participating for the second year in a row in the same Child Welfare Academy certification training required for new DSS child welfare staff

These initiatives strengthened FCRD staff's understanding of updated DSS policy and practice, improved communication with DSS, and afforded FCRD the opportunity to educate new DSS staff on the division's mission, values, and statutory requirements.

The division also created and filled a new volunteer and training coordinator position designed to improve communication with board members.

Identify more efficient ways to fill board and staff vacancies

The number of vacancies continue to be a concern for FCRD's efforts to improve the FCRB's impact on permanency outcomes. During FY23, the division developed a comprehensive communication plan and feedback loop to ensure that local legislative delegations are aware of the vacancies and the impact vacancies have on FCRB functionality. Local board members have expressed interest in having more involvement with the process of recruiting new board members and following up on their candidacy.

While FCRD keeps track of the number of board members and vacancies by appointment, reappointment, or resignation, it has not done so on a monthly basis. Because of requests for point-in-time data, we know that there were 62 board vacancies as of May 2022 and 55 as of October 2022. It is unclear how many vacancies existed at the end of FY23. The FCRD will continue to be intentional in FY24 regarding the tracking and reviewing of vacancies and raising awareness in the community and among legislative delegations about vacancies.

Adhere to the statutory names for Foster Care Review Division (FCRD) and Foster Care Review Board (FCRB)

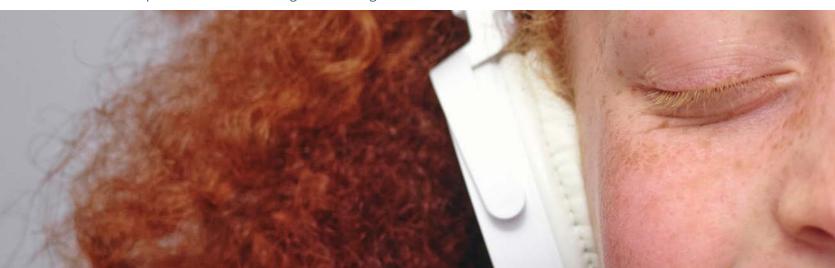

Agency and division leadership and staff continued earlier efforts to clearly define and consistently communicate the difference between the FCRD and the FCRB.

Improving data-sharing with DSS

While not a part of the OIG's recommendations, significant progress in data-sharing was also achieved in FY23. After months of collaboration with FCRD, DSS launched a redesigned FCRB portal, which includes:

- Document upload
- Storage of legal documents
- ICPC status updates
- Foster care case management reports

"Thanks to each of you for your knowledge and expertise," said Paulette K. Salley, DSS director of Human Services Systems/CCWIS, about the project. "We could not have done this without the wonderful teamwork displayed during this process."

WHY REVIEWS MATTER

The foster care system is intended to provide secure living situations for children in unsafe circumstances before returning to a permanent home. Foster care is intended as a temporary response. Generally, the longer the duration in foster care, the poorer a child's long-term outcomes tend to be. Many children spend extended periods in foster care. In this section, we introduce the foster care system to clarify the need for a foster care review process.

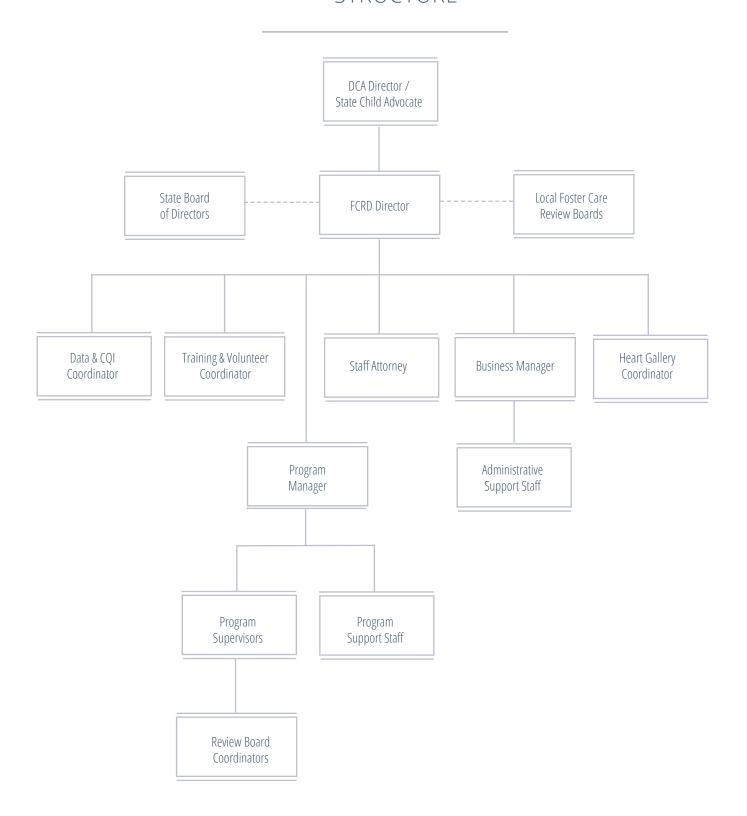

In cases of neglect, abuse, voluntary relinquishment, or other circumstances when children cannot stay with their family of origin, fostering is a transitional period before a permanent home. Achieving timely permanency can occur in multiple ways with the two most common being reunification or termination of parental rights (TPR) and adoption. Reunifying a child with their family after safety and well-being is assured remains the preferred permanency outcome. Sometimes reunification in a timely manner is not feasible and other options need to be considered. Importantly, achieving permanent placement in a timely manner is necessary for child well-being.

"Foster care drift" describes circumstances when a child in foster care is not placed in a permanent home in a timely manner. A substantial body of research indicates that extended stays in care can negatively affect children's lives well into adulthood. Prolonged duration in care also risks institutional trauma beyond the initial causes for entering care. If timely permanency is not achieved this could result in children in care undergoing an "aging out" process as they reach legal adulthood .

Helping to mitigate "foster care drift" is one of the primary purposes of the foster care review system. In the mid-1970s, the state of South Carolina established the Foster Care Review Board (FCRB) to monitor progress toward a permanent home for every child in foster care. Since that time, many other states have created similar review systems due to attenuate experiences among children in care "getting lost in the system." In 2019, the Foster Care Review Division (FCRD) was brought under the new Department of Children's Advocacy to continue its efforts. In addition to providing organizational oversight to local FCRB meetings, FCRD staff take other approaches to help place children in homes. FCRD Coordinators conduct additional advocacy work as the need arises. Many board members volunteer their time and talents in local communities. Further, the South Carolina Heart Gallery serves as a central hub to publicize the need for adoptive homes for children on that path to permanency. The foster care system in South Carolina is a large, complex network of professionals across many child-serving agencies collaborating to address severe social problems. In the FY2023 Annual Report, we have summarized analyses of data gathered during several thousand foster care review meetings. More detailed information may be found in the separate Appendix document located on the FCRD website. We hope that this information proves useful to all persons interested in the welfare of the state's children in foster care.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

INDIVIDUAL CHILDREN REVIEWED

OVERVIEW OF CHILD CHARACTERISTICS

In state fiscal year 2023 (FY2023), Foster Care Review Board meetings were scheduled for 4108 individual children in the South Carolina foster care system (includes children whose reviews were scheduled but postponed or "continued"). Importantly, because children are not reviewed until they have been in foster care for a minimum of four months, these data do not represent all children who spent time in foster care during FY2023. Regardless, we believe that useful understanding can be gained by considering children in foster care whose cases were not closed within an initial four-month period.

Gender

Similar to FY2022, more boys (2117) than girls (1991) were reviewed in FY2023. Boys composed 51.5% of the population in foster care, proportionate to the 51% in the general population of children in South Carolina. Girls composed 48.5% of the children reviewed. Due to the limitations of the data collected, information in this report refers to each child's biological gender or gender assigned at birth. Data is not yet available regarding each child's gender identity (the child's personal experience of their own gender which does not necessarily align with their biological gender or gender assigned at birth).

Race

More than nine in ten children scheduled for review in FY2023 were identified as Multi-racial, Black or African American, or White. Relative to the proportion in the general population of South Carolina's children, children identified as Black or African American and Multi-racial composed disproportionately large groups. Very few children from American Indian or Alaska Native, Asian, or Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander backgrounds were scheduled for review (combined total less than 3% of all children). White and Latinx children were disproportionately underrepresented. Children identified as Latinx may be of any race; however, the data collected and the data provided by KIDS COUNT regarding the general population of children in South Carolina includes Latinx origin as a standalone race category (children are not duplicated in multiple categories).

Racial Identification	Count of Children with Scheduled Reviews in FY23	Estimate of Children in SC General Population (Kids Count 2022)
American Indian or Alaska Native	7 (0.2%)	< 0.5%
Asian	4 (0.1%)	2%
Black or African American	1435 (34.9%)	29%
Latinx	141 (3.4%)	11%
Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander	1 (<0.1%)	< 0.5%
Two or More Races "Multi-racial"	483 (11.8%)	4%
White	2035 (49.5%)	54%
Declined	2 (<0.1%)	N/A

Gender and Race

While the gender and racial identification of children are related to practice considerations, the overlapping identities—both gender and race—are also important in understanding the total number of children in care. Relative to their female counterparts with the same racial identification, American Indian or Alaska Native boys, Asian boys, and Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander boys were overrepresented. This finding is impacted by the relatively low number of children from each of these groups that were scheduled for review. Note that two cases included missing data for race where the child/youth declined to share their racial identity.

Racial Identification	Count of All Children Scheduled for Review in FY23	Count of Male Children	Count of Female Children
American Indian or Alaska Native	7 (0.2%)	6 (0.3%)	1 (0.1%)
Asian	4 (0.1%)	4 (0.2%)	0 (0.0%)
Black or African American	1435 (34.9%)	699 (33.0%)	736 (37.0%)
Latinx	141 (3.4%)	67 (3.2%)	74 (3.7%)
Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander	1 (<0.1%)	1 (<0.1%)	0 (0.0%)
Two or More Races "Multi-racial"	483 (11.8%)	251 (11.9%)	232 (11.7%)
White	2035 (49.5%)	1087 (51.3%)	948 (47.6%)
Declined	2 (<0.1%)	2 (0.1%)	0 (0.0%)

CHILD AGE AT TIME OF LAST REVIEW

Our analysis of age is based on children's age, in years, at the most recent scheduled review. In FY2023, the average age for children in care was 9.4 years (standard deviation = 5.6 years), ranging from newborn to 18 years. KIDS COUNT data derived from the Adoption and Foster Care Analysis and Reporting System (AFCARS), made available through the National Data Archive on Child Abuse and Neglect provides state and national information about children in care by age group. The most recent data available from this source is included in the table below for comparison. Nearly a third (29%) of the children were younger than 5 at the time of their most recent scheduled review. Relative to the overall population of children in foster care, two-year-olds and youth 15 and older were disproportionately overrepresented. Additional detail regarding age at time of review is available in the Appendix.

Age Category	Count of Children by Age Group at Time of Scheduled Review	2022 General Population SC Children	South Carolina Children in Foster Care by Age Group	United States Children in Foster Care by Age Group	2022 General Population US Children
< 5 Years	1203 (29%)	285,883 (24%)	1357 (34%)	161,739 (41%)	18,538,353 (24%)
5 - 10 Years	949 (23%)	304,905 (26%)	849 (22%)	87,383 (22%)	20,009,195 (26%)
10 - 15 Years	1006 (25%)	325,687 (27%)	1117 (28%)	86,793 (22%)	20,889,839 (27%)
15+ Years*	950 (23%)	270,296 (23%)	621 (16%)	55,396 (14%)	17,340,082 (23%)

*KIDS COUNT Data for SC and US population of children in foster care by age uses 15-20 years as the final age category whereas FCRD data uses 15-18 years.

Age and Gender

Overall, girls in FCRB meetings (includes continued meetings) were slightly older in FY2023 than FY2022 while boys were slightly younger. The increase in average age for girls (from 9.7 to 9.9 years) was larger than the decrease in age for boys (9.0 to 8.9 years). Consistent with the prior year, girls also tended to be older than boys by about one year.

Gender	FY2022 Average Age in Years (SD)	FY2023 Average Age in Years (SD)
Female	9.7 (5.6)	9.9 (5.7)
Male	9.0 (5.6)	8.9 (5.4)

Age and Race

As with gender, age differences across racial groups may correspond with children's experiences in foster care. In FY2023, Multi-racial, White and American Indian or Alaska Native children were younger on average when compared to other racial groups, while Latinx, Asian, Black or African American, and Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander children were older. This finding resembled results about race and age from FY2022. American Indian or Alaska Native children were the youngest group with an average age of 6.6 years. On average, Latinx children were much older with an average age of 12.1 years. Only one child reviewed identified as Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander, so the average age for this group (12.6 years) represents just one child's age.

Racial Identification	Overall Average Age in Years (SD)	Average Age Female (SD)	Average Age of Male (SD)
American Indian or Alaska Native	6.6 (3.9)	6.4 (N/A)	6.6 (4.2)
Asian	11.7 (4.6)	N/A	11.7 (4.6)
Black or African American	10.0 (5.6)	10.4 (5.6)	9.5 (5.5)
Latinx	12.1 (5.0)	13.4 (4.4)	10.7 (5.3)
Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander	12.6 (N/A)	N/A	12.6 (N/A)
Two or More Races "Multi-racial"	8.4 (5.4)	8.4 (5.6)	8.3 (5.3)
White	9.0 (5.5)	9.5 (5.6)	8.6 (5.4)
Declined	4.0 (3.9)	N/A	4.0 (3.9)

Age across Gender and Race

Sharp differences became evident in average ages when children's gender and racial identification were considered simultaneously. For all groups except for American Indian or Alaska Native children, girls in care were older than boys. The age difference was greatest among Latinx children, also the oldest group for girls, such that girls tended to be about two and a half years older than boys. This difference was much smaller among Multi-racial children who differed by about one month. These patterns of average age differences resembled those found in FY2022.

BOARD PERMANENCY PLAN RECOMMENDATIONS

TOTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

In FY2023, FCRB members held 4123 review meetings for children in foster care. An additional 834 review meetings were scheduled to occur but continued for a variety of reasons, and 3 meetings were not held as scheduled due to an emergency. At the review meetings that were completed, board members made a permanency recommendation for each individual child. While a permanency recommendation is typically the same for each sibling involved in a review, this is not always the case since each child's situation is considered individually and there are times when the most appropriate permanent plan may differ for siblings given their unique circumstances.

The Board's permanency recommendations for children are grouped into several categories: Reunification, Adoption/Termination of Parental Rights (TPR) and Adoption, Relative Custody/Guardianship, Non-relative Custody, APPLA, Independent Living, and Permanent Foster Care. APPLA refers to the permanency plan of Another Planned Permanent Living Arrangement, a plan option reserved for youth 16 and older (involves making intensive, ongoing efforts to achieve the other plans of Reunification, Adoption, Relative Guardianship, and Relative Custody). The most preferred permanent outcomes for children are reunification with family of origin, when in the child's best interest, and adoption.

In the 4123 review meetings, 5319 permanency recommendations were made. Since reviews are scheduled to occur within 4 to 6 months of foster care entry and then again every 6 months after the first review, many children were reviewed more than once during FY2023 (thus, children who received multiple reviews are counted in the data multiple times). Recommendations for permanency plans of APPLA, Permanent Foster Care, and Non-relative Custody were made for less than two percent of children. About one in four recommendations were for Reunification. About three in five recommendations were for Adoption/TPR and Adoption. Relative to FY2022, FCRB members made proportionally more Reunification recommendations (an increase of 3.5%).

Board Recommendations	Frequency of Recommendation
Adoption/ TPR and Adoption	3273 (61.5%)
Reunification	1222 (23.0%)
Independent Living	409 (7.7%)
Relative Custody/Guardianship	326 (6.1%)
APPLA	70 (1.3%)
Permanent Foster Care	11 (0.2%)
Non-relative Custody	8 (0.2%)
Total Recommendations Made	5319

Gender and Recommendations

Because there are more boys in the foster care system, FCRB members made more total recommendations for boys than for girls. This trend was consistent for each recommendation type except for APPLA and Independent Living which may be due to the higher average age of girls in foster care (i.e., because girls in foster care tended to be older, a higher proportion met the minimum age requirement for a plan of APPLA or Independent Living). Relative to their female counterparts, boys were significantly more likely to receive a recommendation of Permanent Foster Care or Non-Relative Custody.

Board Recommendation	Male	Female
Reunification	644	578
Adoption/TPR and Adoption	1740	1533
Relative Custody/Guardianship	174	152
Non-relative Custody	5	3
Permanent Foster Care	8	3
Independent Living	192	217
APPLA	30	40
Total	2793	2526

Age and Recommendations

Children who received Reunification and Adoption/TPR and Adoption recommendations tended to be younger than children who received other recommendations. Because children must be at least 16 years old to qualify for a permanency plan of APPLA or Independent Living, children receiving these recommendations were much older on average. Notably, children who received a recommendation of Relative Custody/Guardianship were on average about one and a half years younger than those who received a recommendation of Non-relative Custody. The relatively small number of Non-relative Custody recommendations (8) might account for this difference in average ages.

Board Recommendation	Average Age at Time of Last Review (SD)
Reunification	8.1 (5.3)
Adoption/TPR and Adoption	8.4 (5.1)
Relative Custody/Guardianship	10.7 (5.3)
Non-relative Custody	12.1 (4.8)
Permanent Foster Care	14.8 (3.4)
Independent Living	17.0 (1.0)
APPLA	16.9 (1.5)

Race and Recommendations

Considering recommendations across racial groups reveals important differences in frequency and proportionality. For example, Multi-racial, White and American Indian or Alaska Native children tended to receive adoption recommendations at a disproportionately high frequency. Latinx children received Independent Living recommendations at a disproportionately high frequency (not unexpected since Latinx children also had a significantly higher average age at time of review, therefore, a higher proportion of Latinx children met the minimum age requirement for an Independent Living recommendation).

Board Recommendation	American Indian or Alaska Native	Asian	Black or African American	Latinx	Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander	Two or More Races "Multi-racial"	White
Reunification	2 (20.0%)	0 (0.0%)	419 (24.1%)	42 (21.9%)	0 (0.0%)	154 (25.0%)	605 (21.9%)
Adoption/TPR and Adoption	6 (60.0%)	0 (0.0%)	997 (57.3%)	106 (55.2%)	0 (0.0%)	397 (64.4%)	1767 (64.1%)
Relative Custody/Guardianship	2 (20.0%)	0 (0.0%)	134 (7.7%)	7 (3.6%)	0 (0.0%)	28 (4.5%)	153 (5.5%)
Non-relative Custody	0 (0.0%)	0 (0.0%)	2 (0.1%)	1 (0.5%)	0 (0.0%)	3 (0.5%)	2 (0.1%)
Independent Living	0 (0.0%)	2 (100%)	142 (8.2%)	30 (15.6%)	0 (0.0%)	33 (5.4%)	202 (7.3%)

FOSTER CARE REVIEW DIVISION AREAS OF CONCERN

AREAS OF CONCERN

In addition to other responsibilities, FCRB members and FCRD staff identify areas for improvement within the foster care system called Areas of Concern (AoCs). All AoCs are identified based on information provided to FCRD by the South Carolina Department of Social Services (DSS) and during reviews by interested parties. AoCs are used to inform efforts to improve paths to permanent placements and identify areas within the foster care system as a whole that need improvement. In FY2023, 13.7% of child reviews received no Area of Concern citations. Review board members identified a total of 12,349 areas of concern (AoCs) across six categories, an increase of 1.9% over 12,125 from FY2022. FCRD has begun the work of updating existing areas of concern that more specifically identify and target barriers to permanency for children in foster care. Once completed, these barriers will be referred to as Barriers to Permanency (BP's) and they will replace the existing AoCs.

Major AoC Groups

The AoC system nests individual AoCs within six major groups. In FY2023, more than 9 in 10 of all individual AoCs concerned case planning, legal issues, and DSS staff not following agency policy. The high frequency of AoCs in these categories persisted from FY2022. Increases in case planning (12.6% increase from FY2022) and legal obstacles (15.1% increase) contributed to the overall increase in total AoCs. For the remaining categories, total AoCs decreased.

Area of Concern Group	Female	Male
Case Plan Barriers	2532 (48.2%)	2723 (51.8%)
Legal Barriers	1811 (47.3%)	2016 (52.7%)

Gender and Areas of Concern

FCRB members identified 677 more AoCs for boys in foster care than girls. This gender discrepancy decreased from 900 in FY2022. The gender difference in recorded AoCs resembles the gender distribution among all children. Boys comprise 51.5% of all children reviewed by FCRB in FY2023 and they received 52.7% of all AoCs identified, a slight overrepresentation. Required Hearings Not Held was identified as an AoC for boys less often than expected, while the issue of untimely hearings was identified as an AoC for girls less frequently than expected.

Areas of Concern by Age at Last Review

In contrast to FY2022, Adoption service delays in FY2023 were identified more often for older children on average. Required Hearings Not Timely and Required Hearings Not Held were more often identified for younger on average.

Race and Areas of Concern

Differences in AoCs suggest how children across racial identifications experience foster care. The distribution of AoCs may also indicate differences in how FCRB members construe barriers and case progress for children with different backgrounds. Many of these trends may be explained by long-term racial stratification present in the state and likely relate to other forms of inequality, both historical and contemporary (e.g., wealth inequality, disparities in access to education, residential segregation). Compared to their presence in the population (34.9% of reviewed children), Black or African American children were especially affected by delays in provision of adoption services. The overrepresentation of adoption service delays may correspond with systemic issues impeding this form of permanency. AoCs for required hearings not timely affected Latinx children more than twice as often as expected given their overall presence in the population (3.4%), while White children were underrepresented with the AoC of required hearings not held.

Reviews Not Timely

The FCRB aims to hold an initial review meeting for every child within 4 to 6 months of their foster care entry. Review meetings are scheduled for children every 6 months thereafter. Occasionally, review meetings do not occur timely, and this is referred to as a continued review. There were 834 instances of continued review meetings in FY2023 affecting 1319 children, a 5.7% increase from the 1248 continuances in FY2022. The most frequent reason for continuance was non-receipt of an advance review packet from responsible parties, which accounted for two-thirds of continued reviews. Other common reasons included: interested parties not invited to FCRB meetings and DSS staff not present or prepared. Moving into FY24, FCRD is working to implement a new database, CAMS, which will ultimately interface directly with the DSS child welfare database to resolve the issue of non-receipt of needed documents.

Further Information

During FY2023, FCRD staff collaborated with DSS leadership to develop a new system of identifying concerns within the foster care system called the Barriers to Permanency (BPs), which is better suited to identifying systemic root causes impeding permanent placements and will help FCRB/FCRD more clearly articulate opportunities for advocacy and policy change necessary to expedite permanency for children in foster care. The BPs will be reflected in the Annual Report beginning in FY2024. Additional information about Areas of Concern in FY2023 is available in the Appendix.

SOUTH CAROLINA HEART GALLERY

Since July 2008, the South Carolina Heart Gallery (SCHG) has worked to find forever families for children in foster care who are legally free and awaiting adoption. To fulfill its mission, SCHG recruits photographers who volunteer to take photos of these children at scenic locations around the state. Staff share the photos on the SCHG's website and social media accounts, partner with media outlets, and work with public and nonprofit organizations to host exhibits of the framed portraits. SCHG is part of the Foster Care Review Division (FCRD), through a contract with the Department of Social Services.

Over the years, SCHG has expanded and enhanced adoption recruitment for children in foster care. However, during the COVID-19 pandemic, SCHG experienced multiple obstacles to fulfilling its mission, including the inability to hold regular photo sessions. During FY22, after careful consideration and assessment, the SCHG was re-imagined, ensuring that the program would be able to maximize its impact on the adoption recruitment landscape in South Carolina. Heart Gallery photo shoots resumed during this same fiscal year.

In FY23, Christina Grant was hired as the new program coordinator. The first SCHG photo shoot of FY23 was held in July with several other photo shoots to follow across the state. In March 2023, a photo shoot was held at the Riverbanks Zoo, and was particularly special because many of the children shared that it was their first visit to the zoo. Grant also partnered with photography students at Benedict College who joined veteran photographers for the daylong event. This brought in a new slate of volunteer photographers, while also giving the students practical experience they can use for their careers.

Another significant development in FY23 was the signing of a memorandum of understanding between FCRD and Grant Me Hope, a nonprofit organization that creates videos of legally free children. These videos, which provide even stronger connections with prospective families, are posted to the SCHG website and shared with local news organizations for broadcast. During FY23, a total of nine group sessions were held, with at least two shoots scheduled in each region. In all, SCHG was able to add more than 70 children and 20 videos to the gallery. During FY23, the SCHG received 353 inquiries from potential adoptive families as a result of photos and videos added to the gallery.

ANNUAL AWARDS

Board members and staff are given the opportunity to nominate individuals and entire boards to recognize their contributions and commitment to bettering outcomes for children in foster care. The Awards Committee reviewed all nominations and selected volunteer review board members who have demonstrated exemplary dedication to their role.

Jim Kelly 2022 Review Board Member of the Year

Jim Kelly, a member of FCRB 2A (Aiken and Barnwell Counties), was named FCRB Member of the Year during Annual Professional Development Day on April 21, 2023.

Jim goes far above and beyond the call of duty, frequently volunteering to sub on numerous boards across the state, developing relationships with his DSS contacts, and taking the time to attend SC Heart Gallery photoshoots. He always brings treats for the children and adults in attendance.

In 2022, Jim purchased bookbags and school supplies for a local group home in Aiken County. One of the store managers was so touched by what he was doing that the store donated additional bookbags and supplies to ensure that every student had one, as well as enough supplies for the entire school year.

While subbing on another board, Jim, helped a high school senior who wanted to attend Clemson University in the fall of 2022.

He listened to the GAL's concerns regarding the teen's lack of family support and fear of being at a large school withough resources. He then reached out to university leadership to advocate not only for this teen, but all children in foster care who may desire to attend the university in the future

John Seignious III Special Recognition Award

John Seignious III of FCRB 9A (Charleston) was selected to receive the Special Recognition Award for his outstanding service and dedication.

John served as a substitute review board member for 42 review meetings in addition to serving on his own local board. Local boards have a large number of vacancies and John's commitment and willingness to help guarantee that reviews could move forward instead of being continued.

STATE BOARD

The Foster Care Review Board (FCRB) includes a seven-member volunteer State Board of Directors who make a set of annual recommendations regarding system improvement. FCRD assists the State Board members to understand, in detail, how the statewide foster care system is functioning and can be improved by coordinating review meetings throughout the year, collaborating with other child-serving agencies across the state, and collecting and analyzing relevant data. Currently, the State Board has three vacancies.

Andrea McCoy State Chair - 6th Congressional District

Andrea McCoy holds a bachelor's from the University of South Carolina and a certificate in nonprofit management from Winthrop University. She is a life-long South Carolinian who was born and raised in Florence and moved to Columbia for college where she met her husband, Stephfon. Andrea has been a member of the Foster Care Review Board since 2015 and a member of the state board since 2017. She is a program manager with a global pharmaceutical company and owner of Innovative Solutions, LLC. In addition to the SC Foster Care Review Board, Andrea serves as chairperson for the Midlands Technical College Office Systems Advisory Board as well as a member of the Human Rights Committee of Sevita (formerly S.C. Mentor). Andrea has repeatedly been recognized for her community service with awards and accolades; however, the experiences that she is most proud of are serving as a project manager for S.C. Dental Access Days, where more than 1,500 patients received over $500,000 worth of dental care in two days, and managing the We Are The Village project, resulting in Christmas gifts for over 400 kinship care and homeless families in the Midlands area. She enjoys gardening, traveling, solving puzzles and visiting museums. Andrea and Stephfon are the proud parents of one child, a daughter, Dr. Alexis McCoy of Dallas, Texas.

Mary D. Long 5th Congressional District

STATE BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS

FOSTER CARE REVIEW DIVISION

STATE BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS

The State Board's FY2023 recommendations, informed by the efforts of FCRD across the year, are intended as general suggestions to aid the statewide foster care system.

Recommendations are made in the areas of Intentionally Partnering for Permanency, Engagement and Advocacy, Accessibility of Foster Care Review Board Meetings, Legal Advocacy, and Internal Capacity.

These recommendations may also help non-experts interested in the foster care system understand major barriers to ensuring children have safe, permanent homes.

Intentionally Partnering for Permanency

The Board of Directors (BOD) recognizes that progress has been made on rebuilding relationships with child welfare partners across the state and increasing the visibility of Foster Care Review Board but work remains. The BOD recommends that the Division and local boards continue their efforts to strengthen existing partnerships and develop new ones to provide opportunities for collaboration that will have a positive impact on permanency outcomes for children and families involved in the foster care system. This includes being deliberate about ensuring local boards have an active Community Contribution Plan in place and are actively involved to identify needs within their community to support the children and families along with the professionals who serve them. The BOD also recommends continued collaboration with the South Carolina General Assembly on laws that support the well-being of children and families in our state.

Engagement and Advocacy

The Board of Directors continues to place emphasis on the value of making recommendations based on input from all parties involved with foster care cases. The Board recommends ongoing effort to engage with and encourage the participation of DSS, Guardian ad Litem Program, Richland County CASA, foster parents, kinship caregivers, providers and biological parents in the review process. The BOD has several recommendations regarding advocacy from local boards:

- BOD recommends that local boards continue to engage with parties in a respectful, empathetic way and identify opportunities for advocacy from the information provided.
- BOD recommends continued effort toward increasing FCRB presence at court hearings to advocate for children and families attaining permanency as soon as possible.

STATE BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS

- BOD recommends that local boards actively engage with their family court system to identify areas where advocacy is needed to ensure that their circuit has the optimal number of family court judges to efficiently support our state's caseload.
- BOD recommends that annual advocacy goals are developed, informed by review data, to help guide system-level efforts and to highlight areas where the greatest impact can be made by local boards.

Accessibility of Foster Care Review Board Meetings

The Board of Directors (BOD) is fully aware of the accessibility and flexibility that virtual reviews have allowed all interested parties, especially for families and children, but also recognizes the value of Foster Care Review Boards' ability to engage in person with DSS staff and other partners. The BOD recommends the Division conduct surveys of participants after piloting a hybrid review model scheduled for the first half of FY2024 and utilize this feedback to make a decision about what FCRB reviews will look like moving forward.

Legal Advocacy

The Board of Directors is aware that often court delays and legal barriers can have an impact on children in foster care achieving timely permanency. They continue to recommend that the Division of Foster Care Review increase collaboration with the Court Improvement Program to review data and identify opportunities for board members to advocate for improvements to the family court system in addition to case specific legal advocacy and court involvement by the board. This includes monitoring legal processes and making recommendations for removing barriers to timely decisions that are identified as impacting timely permanency for children in foster care.

Internal Capacity

The Board of Directors (BOD) continues to recognize the need for strengthened capacity within its Boards and maintains the recommendation from last year regarding enhanced training for FCRB members and Chairpersons, board member attendance at reviews and provided trainings; reduced board vacancies, and more frequent communication among FCRB staff, review board members, and State Board members. The BOD is looking forward to making significant progress on this goal through the creation of a Training & Volunteer Coordinator position within the Division who will be focused on these tasks.
